

Dear ProTren Enthusiast,

This is to update you on our new product, Trenev Duo, with Bifidobacteria infantis (super strain NLS) and Bifidobacteria longum (super strain NBL), is a new product that we developed in our combined efforts working with a prominent Gastroenterologist and Clinical Trial Researcher.

It is the first time we have introduced a new oil matrix delivery system probiotic product. These two species and strains are very compatible! The reason for our introducing them to you now to use in addition to our Trenev Trio is because these two species have been found to be crucial in helping people who have been exposed to spike proteins or other issues that may affect the immunity of their large intestine.

We believe this will have tremendous positive effects on your overall health, and we encourage you to take both Trenev Trio and Trenev Duo to maximize your health and to make sure that your body is protected from whatever may be in the air, water, and food. Our bodies are being tested by many new things that we have not seen before.

These products are synergistic, and used together, they can help keep up our immunity. We have tested them in our laboratory to ensure that the strains are compatible with each other to help provide the protection we all need. What's a better investment in your health than to use our incredible precision probiotic products?

Please contact us at 888-381-1887 or go to our website, protren.com, to place your order of both Trenev Trio and Trenev Duo. We welcome your feedback so that we can share with all our other ProTren patrons.

Thank you,
